

I GAVE HIM MY HEART.

A girl who lived with a strict parent fell in love with a guy from her neighbourhood. They lived in the United Kingdom. The girl's name was Ramie, and she was a very quiet and intelligent but she was not able to express herself to anyone. for example, she isn't allowed to hold her phone when her parent is around and isn't allowed to have friends because her parent thought that she will end up a having bad life.

One day as she was standing by her window looking outside, she saw people moving to the next house, she was curious, so she looked outside, for the first time she felt something in her heart as she saw a boy looking as the same as her, with brown eyes and a curly hair and was tall. She started feel like she might be in love, having no one to talk about how she was feeling, she looked it up on YouTube. Later, she knows now that she likes the hottest boy in the area, she immediately expresses how she is feeling through writing. Fortunately for her the boy has now started going to her school and he was in the same class as her. but due to the guy's hotness and now popular in the school, tones of girls are now having a crush on him. She felt hopeless because she was an introvert nerd. The next day God was on her side as her teacher matched her and the boy for a class project where she found out that the boy's name is jinx-oh and he was a transferee student from south-Korea. They started spending more time together and getting closer. Now she knows that jinn-oh has no girlfriends, she took it into her own advantage and planned for jinx to like him not knowing that jinx-oh has already liked her because of her personality and she is childish. One day jinn's friends told him to tell confess his feelings to her. Jinx-oh gather his courage to express her feelings to her, turns out she likes him. They started dating and has her first kiss from him. She went home happy even her parent notice her happiness and they were also happy seeing their child happy. The next day she went to jinx-Oh's house where she found out that jinx has a little sister. In addition to that his family are now calling her their daughter in law, she was over the moon. After six months of dating their love story is now as Romeo and Juliet. Their unconditional love is now famous with her parent knowing of it. As she spent more time with her boyfriend and getting closer, jinx found out that she was a pure all the while and she didn't want to get intimate with him because of her parent and he decided to face her parent proving how much he love her, but it was not an easy thing to do as her parent forbid dating till age 30. After a rough month, her family finally accept them together. One year now they are in their final year in her school when ramie found out that she is pregnant she quickly told her boyfriend, and he was so happy even though he has no money. When they told ramie's parent were furious and they told him that he can't even take care of himself nor their daughter or the baby as the time jinx is determine to prove them wrong so he start doing 4 jobs and buying clothes for the baby. one night ramie was going to her boyfriend place where he works and she bumped into jinx's ex-girlfriend who has just come the mental hospital and she noticed her belly getting bigger, she instantly knew it from jinx and they exchange some words and she push her off the cliff and she was sight by people who took her to the hospital and her boyfriend was later called to the hospital and was later inform that she has a miscarriage and he was devastated by the news and immediately left the hospital. The next day they went by the place where incidence happened, and he promise to be with her till death and the marked the place as their baby's grave as they were washed by their tears. Years later jinx has now spaced his beloved girlfriend because of cancer, and he didn't want her to know. Ramie is now feeling left out because her lost her baby, so she made up her mind to move on but her was fixed to jinx and she can't forget about her first love, so she made up her mind to talk to one of his friends and she heard that he was diagnosed with cancer, she busted into tears thinking that has been a bad girlfriend. She started spending more time with him in hospital as he has no more time to live. They promise to love each other till death. Unfortunately, he died the next day, and she lost it, everything she has and plan to have in the future has been snatched away from her, her first kissed and love is now gone. She only has one idea to meet her beloved in heaven and she ended up her life, living her parent lost in their thought but they faced it that they have no child again.

The moral of this lessons is love is all about sacrifice and pure love is all we need in this world . And sometimes young love can last, it only need more patient and we should give our heart to someone who is ready to give their all.
